

Stranger things by Palmarleoex123

Category: Stranger Things, 2016

Genre: Mystery, Supernatural

Language: English

Characters: Eleven/Jane H., Mike W., OC, Will B.

Status: In-Progress

Published: 2019-10-18 20:57:54

Updated: 2019-10-18 20:57:54

Packaged: 2019-12-12 14:27:07

Rating: K+

Chapters: 1

Words: 1,608

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: So i've pretty much watched stranger things up to season 3 and i got bored so i started writing somethung random which isnt what u think will happen in season 4 but it is something that could happen hope you enjoy

Stranger things

Chapter 1:

KAMCHATKA FACILITY, RUSSIA

SEPTEMBER 26, 1985

"Bring the girl to me, I wish to speak to her," A Russian commander said through his radio. The man sat at his desk with a smug look on his face and waiting patiently for the other men to bring the girl to him. "The commander wants the American girl right now!" Another Russian said walking towards a big metal door with the words fifteen in Russian on the front. "Yes Sir we shall get the girl to him right now," a soldier said saluting his comrade then opened the metal door to reveal a girl with brown hair. The soldier grabbed the girl's arm and pulled her up. "Come the commander wishes to speak to you American." The soldier says as another soldier comes up to the girl and grabs her other arm. "No! Please let go!" The girl screamed trying to get away as she knew what was going to happen now.

"Sir here she is!" the soldier says and both men push the girl into the room with the commander then closed and locked the door, "NO! NO PLEASE!!" the girl screamed and bagged on the door. The commander looked at the girl and smiled then walked over to her and grabbed her by her hair "don't want to see me today Mila that's sad I was so happy to see you," the commander said with a smirk then pushed the girl up against a wall and strapped her up there. "Now tell me where it is!" the commander says. The girl shook her head crying "Never!" she screamed. The commander frowned and slapped the girl's face. "Where's the girl and the gate!" the commander yelled. The girl stayed quiet not going to cave in and give away anything "you have one more chance "Find them!... I'll be back in 20 minutes and you better have the answer or we will feed you to the Demogorgon!" The commander yelled then slapped the girl again and walked out of the room.

The time slowly past and the girl tried to find the girl and the gate but her powers were weak and she didn't have enough energy. She was able to find Eleven and took in a bit of Elevens surrounding than passed out from loss of energy. The commander then came back in and slapped the girl awake. "So do you have the information I asked for?" the commander asked with a frown, the girl shook her head "no energy," she said looking down. "Useless child!" the commander yelled "feed her to the Demogorgon," the man said into his radio. Two soldiers came in and grabbed the girl and took her to the cages, the commander followed. "NO NO! PLEASE NO!!" The girl screamed and yelled fighting against the soldiers.

"Sorry sweet pea but you couldn't give us what we wanted so you're useless to us now," A soldier said with a smirk as he goes to open the cage. "WAIT WAIT PLEASE I CAN FIND THE LOCATION!!" The girl yelled crying. The commander looked at the girl and stopped the soldiers. "Sir, she's probably lying!" One of the soldiers said. The commander hushed the soldier and walked to the girl. "Where are they?" the commander asked the girl. The girl looked up at the man "Hawkins Indiana Hutson cemetery" the girl said then looked down. "That's a good girl, get a jet ready for me and Mila for two hours." The commander said with a smirk

HAWKINS, INDIANA

DECEMBER 31, 1985

Dustin's out on the hill trying to get through to Suzie as it had been just over a month since he had last spoken to her, he sort of felt bad but the last few days he was too busy hanging out with Mike, Lucas, Will, Max and Eleven to even think about Suzie. He had planned to talk to her until January first as he couldn't physically spend time with her until summer. After a while of trying to contact Suzie through the walkie talkie, the whole thing stopped working and there was a small voice "Help.." the voice said. Dustin froze and looked around as the sky started to darken, he felt a shiver run down his spine before another voice called his name. "Dustin I thought I might find you here," Will said. Dustin jumped and fell backward "jeez you scared the crap out of me," Dustin said sitting up and adjusting his hat. "What are you doing here anyway shouldn't you be with Mike, Lucas and their girlfriends?" Dustin said then rolled his eyes.

"No way Mike, Eleven, Lucas and Max all went out to watch the fireworks honestly they were probably going to find a place to make out or something.. And I thought you might need some help or at least some company," Will said with a smile sitting next to Dustin. Dustin sighed "yeah I haven't had any luck with Suzie maybe she's busy or something... But I did hear this weird voice it sounded like a girl and it was not Suzie"Dustin said with a small sigh then looked up at the sky. Will looked at the walkie talkie and picked it up only for there to be the voice again "Please stop let me go! Someone help!" it was hard to make out but still slightly understandable.

Will flinched and threw the walkie talkie to the ground, both boys looked at each other in confusion and shock. "What the hell was that," Will said. "More like who the hell is that," Dustin said looking at the walkie talkie. "We should tell the others," Will said getting up and looking around. Dustin grabbed Will's arm "Will no they wouldn't care let's just forget about it it's probably just some stupid prank anyway," Dustin said than got up turning the walkie talkie off.

"Let's just go have our new year party," Dustin said letting go of Will's arm then started walking down the hill. Will followed with a small sigh and sigh and he checked the time it was 9:00 pm so there were only 3 more hours until the new year where they could all start new and hopefully have a peaceful year for once. They walked back to Will's house and started playing random game boards and talking away waiting for it to hit midnight.

FIREWORK NEW YEARS SHOW, HAWKINS INDIANA

Mike, Lucas, Eleven and Max were all sitting and talking waiting for the fireworks to start and for the new year to begin. Mike and Eleven look at each other with smiles on their faces, it was Eleven's first time seeing fireworks and she was very excited she had experienced so much over the past few years but she knew this by far would be her favorite. "You excited?"Mike asked holding Eleven's hand "Uh Yeah" Eleven replied slightly unsure of what 'excited' means. Mike nodded with a smile and looked around. The stars were out and they looked so amazing he wished he could do this with Eleven every night but he knew he couldn't sadly. "Where did Will go?"Lucas asked looking around than over at Mike. "I dunno maybe he went home or he went to go find Dustin"Mike answered with a small shrug. "I sort of feel bad for Will he's always wandering off, I guess it's probably because he feels left out or something," Max says leaning against Lucas.

"Probably but I'm sure he'll find someone eventually," Mike said looking at Eleven with a smile.

Eleven looked up at the stars with a smile and sighed softly she wondered if hopper was up there watching them or was he still alive. She was unsure and still slightly scared as she was still partially without her powers. Eleven looked down at her feet then everything went black she looked around into the darkness "Hello?" she called out confused and scared. She then heard a small snuffle and crying from behind her, she turned around and saw a girl she had brown hair and had broken chains on her wrists. Eleven walked closer to the girl cautiously and kneeled in front of her. The girl looked at Eleven with tears running down her face " Eleven.. P-please help m-me I-I'm s-scared" The girl said. Eleven looked at the girl confused "who are you" Eleven asked. But before the girl could reply she disappeared and Eleven woke up on the ground her friends surrounding her with worried looks on their faces.

"El? Are you ok?"Mike asked. Eleven nodded than slowly sat up, "you sure you just kind of passed out?"Max said than checked Elevens temperature with a sigh "you feel fine" Max said than got up. Mike looked at Eleven and got up then held his hand out to her, Eleven grabbed his hand and stood up with a smile. She then heard the voice of the girl again and her mind and shivered slightly. "You ok?"Mike asked holding both of Eleven's hands. Eleven nodded "Just a bit cold," She said with a shrug. Mike smiled and took his jacket off and put it over Eleven's shoulders, Eleven smiled and thanked him than the two starts walking Lucas and Max followed with a smile. Eleven looked behind her seeing something in the trees but just shrugged it off and kept walking.